

Nursery without heating

Many farmers have good reasons to prefer nursery areas without heated surfaces. The following display shows a cost-saving and very slip resistant solution.

Nursery with heating

Those framers who wish to provide local warmth will find MIK to be a partner with numerous solutions. Depending on personal preferences and general conditions electrical or warm water panels can be applied. One alternative is a corner arrangement using the Thermo W 400 panel, as pictured here.

